Coupang's
Incheon1 Camp

This one is a multi-purpose complex with a fulfillment center
inside, so it's bigger than others.

Wow, what a huge building!

Oh, that's the studio lighting. we need to shoot a promo video later.

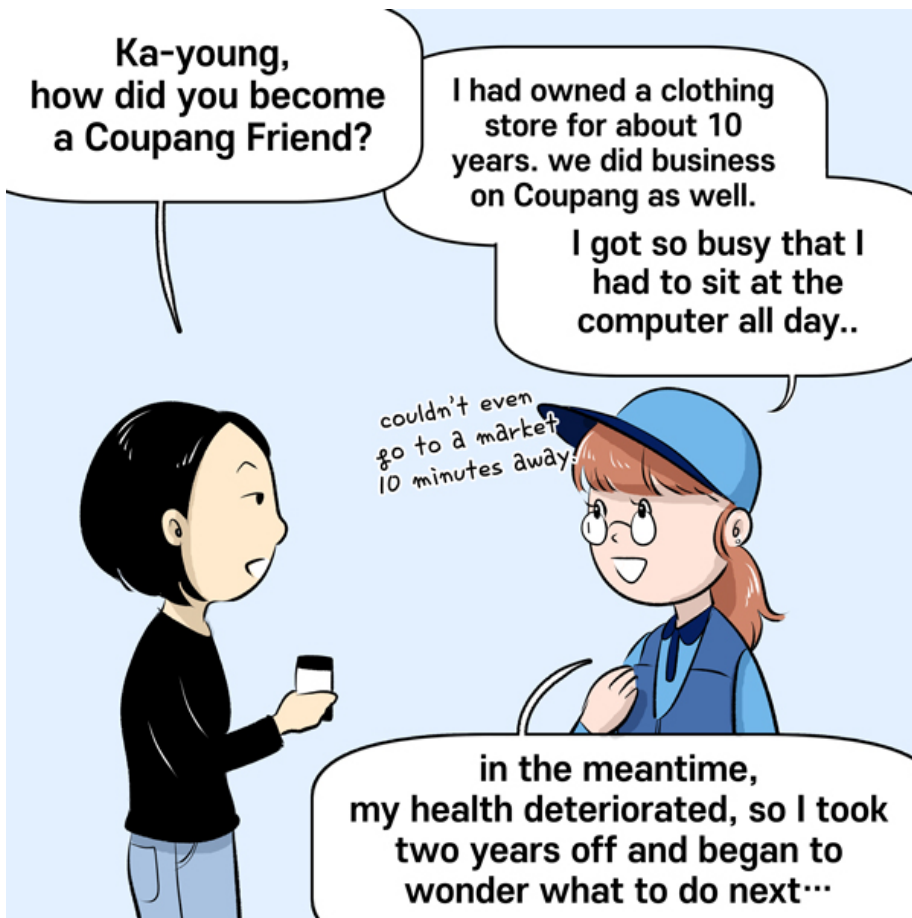

And she is also a delivery expert with 5 years of experience so..

Ka-young, how did you become a Coupang Friend?

I had owned a clothing store for about 10 years. we did business on Coupang as well.

I got so busy that I had to sit at the computer all day..

couldn't even go to a market 10 minutes away.

in the meantime, my health deteriorated, so I took two years off and began to wonder what to do next...

Then, social media was abuzz with praises about Coupang's delivery, which made me intrigued and think about doing it myself. Even my husband, a heavy Coupang user, recommended it, so I applied.

Yes, because they were very fast and they were very nice to customers.

How was it like when you first began to work?

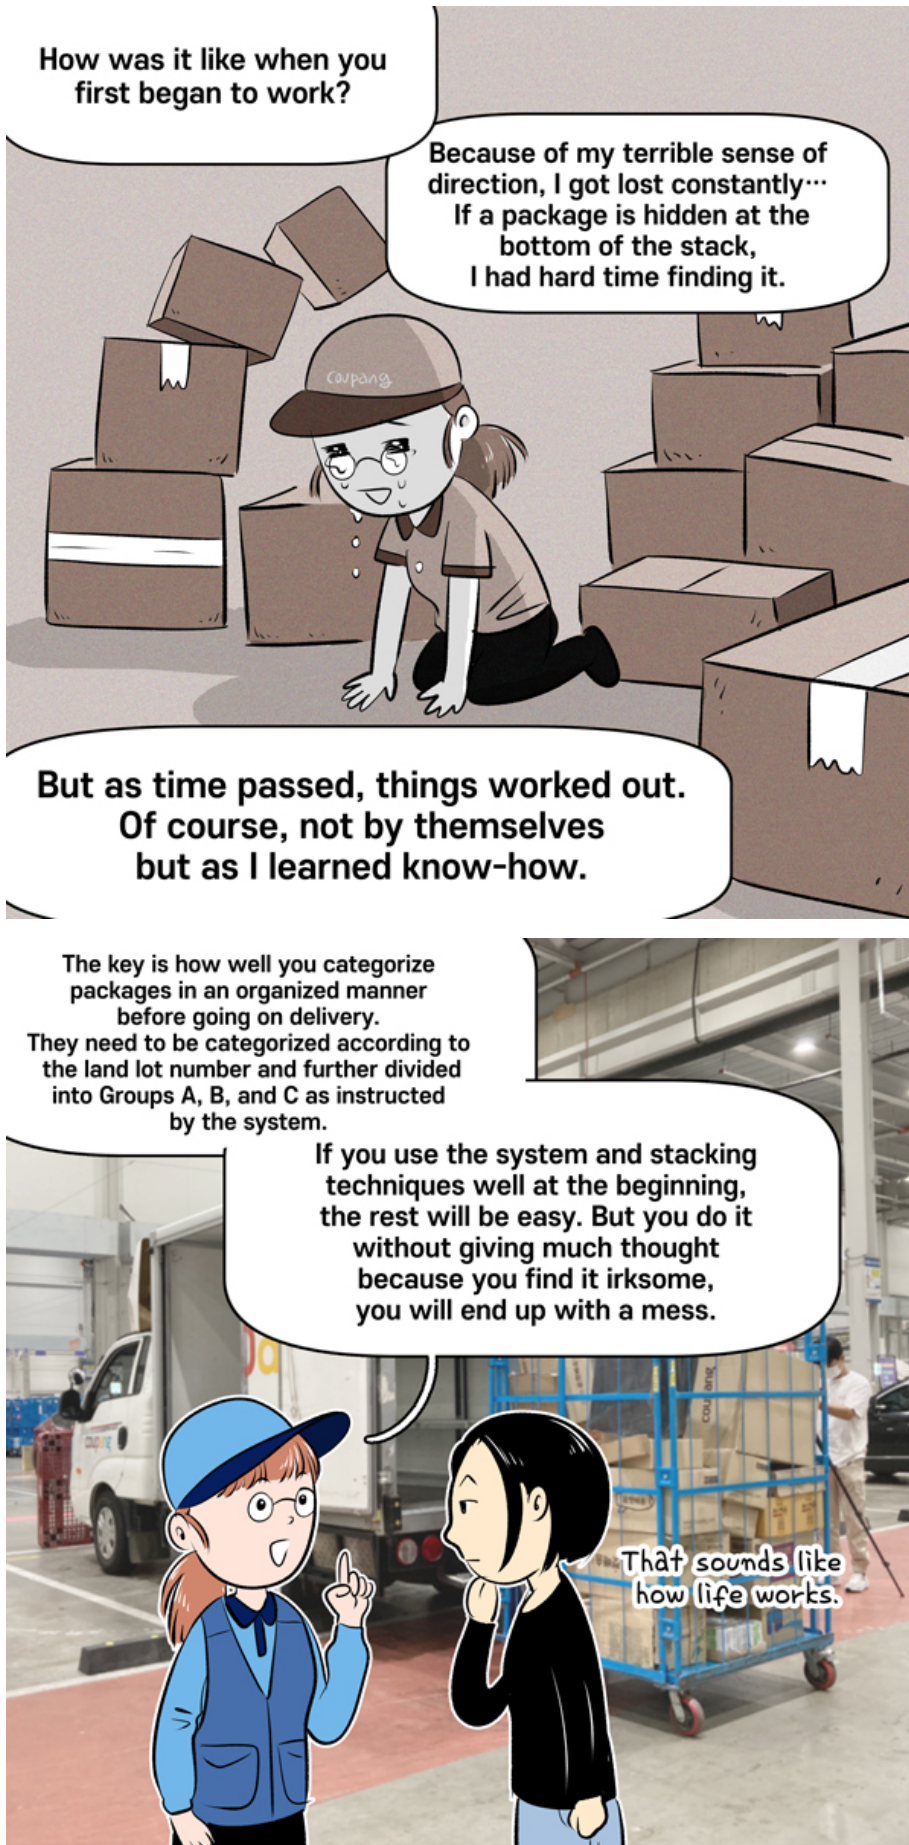

Because of my terrible sense of direction, I got lost constantly...
If a package is hidden at the bottom of the stack, I had hard time finding it.

But as time passed, things worked out.
Of course, not by themselves but as I learned know-how.

The key is how well you categorize packages in an organized manner before going on delivery. They need to be categorized according to the land lot number and further divided into Groups A, B, and C as instructed by the system.

If you use the system and stacking techniques well at the beginning, the rest will be easy. But you do it without giving much thought because you find it irksome, you will end up with a mess.

That sounds like how life works.

And in the early days of Coupang, I had some difficulties because all the people at the logistics center, except me, were male.

Ah, that's right. I remember the delivery staff were called Coupang Men.

Yeah, now we got more female delivery staff, so we got a new name, Coupang Friends. Applying for a menstrual leave is super simple. A couple of touches on the Coupang Friend app will do.

Also, there is a delivery app only for Coupang Friends. If you touch a package to deliver...

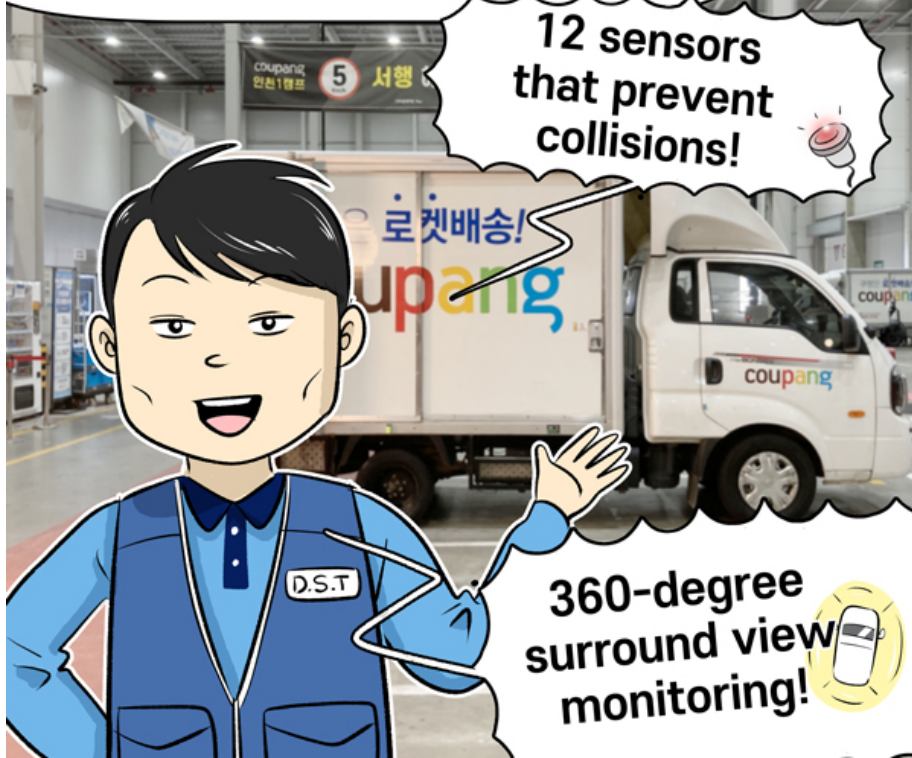

Wow, it shows you the map immediately. This explains such a fast delivery.

The app keeps getting updated on the basis of user opinions. That means you must do some learning each time, but the app is getting better with each update.

And there is Coupang Friends' secret weapon ...

The Coupang Car!
the brainchild of technology and know-how!
Driving Safety Trainer Tae-yang Jang will walk us through this.

The LEDs in the cargo compartment light up automatically when the door opens!

The cargo compartment opens on three sides for easy loading/unloading of packages!!

For better performance,
we are always listening to the drivers' opinions!

Ever-improving
Coupang Car!!
Please look forward
to the next upgrade!!

Lastly, please tell us
about a memorable experience you had on the road.

Alright,
not my personal experience tho..

While making a delivery in an alley,
a Coupang Friend found a cat following him, so he took the cat on the truck.

He named the cat Bong-gu
because his last name was Bong.
